What Constitutes Real Service?

There is more to a Service Station than just selling motorists Gasoline and Oil and having a few trucks to convey these auto necessities about town. And there is more to serving the public than simply establishing various filling stations where "gas" and oil may be obtained.

One important item that was overlooked, until the Gafill Oil Company began improving the service rendered to the motorists of Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan, was doing for them what they usually shunned—and doing it free. The Gafill Stations are equipped for this service with convenient, substantial trestles and men who know how and are willing to do this work without delay. We do it because it is necessary to the life and action of the car.

Draining Crank Cases

It's Real Service

TO BE THE PIONEER in any line and anticipate the wants of your customers before they demand it. We originated the Crank Case Draining Service, which has been so widely copied by other firms.

Just Another Example of Being Properly Equipped to Give Service

During the railroad strike of a year ago, the Gafill Oil Company was the only company able to deliver Gasoline and Oil as required. On two different occasions was this true. Even to the extent of supplying competitors from our immense storage tanks in South Bend.

We Render Reliable Service

You can depend on Gafill Service and Sun Ray Gasoline and Mobiloils. We want to be a benefit to this community—giving what is desired rather than trying to mould public opinion to our way of doing business.
